WORLD PREMIERES & FAVOURITES

Welcome!

Booking Dance Festival Edinburgh 2011 is a dance “festival within a festival” at The Edinburgh Fringe presented by Producer Jodi Kaplan / BookingDance. This year marks our third annual festival in Scotland and we are thrilled to partner again with Venue150 @ EICC in offering our renowned Festival Showcase and a special expanded Split Bill this summer.

Ranging stylistically from classical modern to traditional dance from around the globe, this dance festival showcases eight world premieres plus innovative and diverse works by eight participating American dance companies in two different programmes performed by over 35 dancers/musicians.

Expect to be inspired, transfixed and transformed by a dynamic range of the best dance companies from the USA performing at The Fringe for the first time - except our returning featured artist Ballroom Dancing For Tough Guys who was a favourite at our festival last year and is back by popular demand!

This year's festival focuses on the dance capital of the world – New York City – with seven of the participating USA companies emerging from this locale. There is also one very special guest - Rhythmic Circus – performing with a live percussive 7-piece band and 4 tap dancers from the newest grooviest dance hub of Minneapolis.

As the world's largest open arts Festival, The Fringe provides the perfect opportunity for this virtuosic group of American choreographers to gain credible, international exposure. Please note that participating companies will be performing ten world premieres, which makes the program extra special. I personally am a fan of these outstanding artists including New York City Dance companies: Ashley A. Friend, Ballroom Dancing for Tough Guys, Clyde Forth Visual Theatre, DAMAGEDANCE, Emily Faulkner/Wind-Up Dances, Gehring Dancetheatre, Labyrinth Dance Theater and our one special guest from Minneapolis - Rhythmic Circus.

In a virtuosic preview performance of Booking Dance Festival Edinburgh 2011, participating artists danced in the center of New York City at Bryant Park in July 2011 as a kickoff to Scotland. They performed outdoors on NYC's hottest official day in the past 7 decades at 104 degrees! And not one dancer missed one beat! So get ready to see something hot in this cool Scottish climate. Hopefully some audience members were inspired to join us “across the pond” for the full festival experience.

Another exiting pre-festival event was that Jodi Kaplan, along with Gehring Dancetheatre, had the pleasure of meeting Scotland's Cultural Ambassador this past Spring for a Photo-Op during Scotland Week in New York City.

Booking Dance Festival Edinburgh plans to return annually to The Edinburgh Fringe, continuing in 2012 for a three-week run in conjunction with the Olympics! We will present top USA Dance Companies and feature one invited Scottish Dance Artist as a guest each evening.

Thank you for coming and enjoy the shows!

Kind Regards,

Jodi Kaplan
Producer

ABOUT BOOKING DANCE FESTIVAL EDINBURGH 2011

The Booking Dance Festival is a dance “festival within a festival” at The Fringe. Its goal is to position dance as a more prominent art form within The Edinburgh Fringe while introducing audiences to the best the US has to offer dance-wise.

Featuring a diverse range of the newest and most dynamic dance artists from across the USA, the “festival showcase” format is designed to entertain the uninitiated (people who have never seen modern dance) as well as provide a glimpse into the current American dance scene for the professional dance community. The 8 participating companies each perform different styles that draw on the dynamic American tradition of dance.

The idea behind the Festival Showcase is to give audiences a taste of great dance in a byte sized festival format. And the Split Bill offers audiences a chance to come back and see more of our top artists. Note that there will not be an overlap in programming, so audiences that want to see more of their favourite artists in the Split Bill will see all new work by them!

Booking Dance Festival also hopes to increase awareness and enthusiasm for dance throughout Scotland and have made extra efforts to reach out to the local community and youth by offering affordable ticket prices and extensive (and free) educational outreach activities. Our new Educational Outreach Director Eva Kaplan has planned an array of activities for Booking Dance Festival's first EDUCATIONAL OUTREACH DAY including a panel discussion and behind-the-scenes meet the artist opportunities. Thursday, August 18th marks the first foray into introducing international dance to primary and secondary schools throughout the Edinburgh region.

The Booking Dance Festival is also committed to education through experience, and partnered for the second year in a row with the University of Wisconsin to offer an in-depth Arts Management internship programme for college age students.

The past two years of Booking Dance Festival Edinburgh far exceeded all expectations. The shows got five star reviews from ThreeWeeks, rave reviews from Festivals Magazine and named as the top pick in The Shimmy Skinny as well as being featured in the BBC World News and BBC Scotland. Most importantly the performances were welcomed with enthusiasm from audiences, many of which had never seen dance before!

Venue150 @ EICC is an ideal partner for this endeavor as Venue Manager Sam Gough shares a vision to bring American dance to the forefront at The Fringe. The theatre is beautiful, and the seating very comfortable, guaranteeing audiences an enjoyable experience. Because Venue150 @ EICC attracts a wide range of people to their shows, generally not dance attendees, it is the perfect venue for us to draw new audience members into our performances. The size of the theater with 1200 seats also allows for flexible pricing.

All 8 artists are available to tour individually with full productions. Promoters and festival directors who enjoy their performances at Booking Dance Festival Edinburgh 2011 are invited to consider booking companies in theatres or on extended tours throughout the UK and Europe.

NOOR
 Written and Directed by: Sasha Spielvogel
 Choreography: Felicia Norton and Sasha Spielvogel
 Score: David Majzlin
 Costume: Millie Del Rio
 Dancer: Felicia Norton

NOOR tells the amazing true story of Noor-un-nisa Inayat Khan (1914 – 1944), a Sufi pacifist, poet and musician who became a spy for the allies during WWII. Code-named Madeleine, Noor was the first woman wireless operator covertly dropped into Nazi-occupied France and ultimately the last communication link between Paris and London. Although the Gestapo had a full description of her, Noor managed to evade them throughout the summer of 1943 but was soon betrayed, captured and taken to 84 Avenue Foch, Gestapo Headquarters in Paris where she made two daring escape attempts. Despite being tortured, she never revealed any secrets. She was executed in Dachau, giving her life to save victims of Nazi oppression. Her beauty was such that even her interrogators wept when they learned of her death.

Ashley A. Friend

Ashley A. Friend gives the viewer a dynamic, artistically daring, and modern experience of American dance. ID-iloveamerica is a response to the current cultural climate, new technologies, and her travels around the United States. As a contemporary dance choreographer since 2001 Friend has crafted a very unique intricate and idiosyncratic movement vocabulary called the scary body. Her work is compelling and mysterious, giving the viewer pause for personal interpretations and lasting impressions. Since 2004 she has worked closely with live electronic music composer David Morneau. Friend is also known for composing her own scores and developing sound-scapes to suite the specificity of her choreography.

Originally from California, since 2006 Ashley A. Friend has been based in New York City. Her choreography has been performed in Portland, Seattle, Columbus, Detroit, Santa Barbara, San Luis Obispo, New Smyrna Beach, and throughout New York City. Venues include Joyce SoHo, Movement Research at Judson Church, Conversations at The Flea, the 92nd St Y, Tea Dances, West-End Theater, Ailey Citigroup Theater, and DNA. Summer 2011 at the Edinburgh Fringe Festival and Geneva, Switzerland.

In 2009 Friend traveled around the United States alone for nine months. While traversing America and rehearsing movement influenced by the terrain and personality of the road, she supported a blog, vlogs (video-logs), and documented the environment (<http://id-iloveamerica.blogspot.com/>). The project is now called Honey Flat and has been performed in various incarnations at Secret Project Robot, Movement Research at Judson Church, Dance Obispo (CA), Steinberg Gallery (CA), West-End Theater, Ailey Citigroup Theater, and Chez Bushwick. Our mission is to bring daring, improvisational performance works with a strong visual component to the public through site specific and intimately staged presentations.

For Booking Dance Festival 2011, CFVT presents two world premieres, Yield and Meat:Meta. Both are inspired by the haunting, evocative musical compositions of Scott Walker and are part of a larger cycle of works that are scheduled to be presented in 2012 as an evening length work.

"Reaching, slinking, retracting, attempting escape, lolling, furling, and uncoiling, [clyde forth's] movements are luxuriant, panicky, and funny, part jazz club ingénue, part survivor in the wasteland, and part etymological magnetism." - Deborah McLeod, Baltimore City Paper

Founded in the summer of 2010 by Artistic Director Jessica Taylor, DAMAGEDANCE strives to increase awareness about dancing with passion and doing it differently. The company will only too soon be known for dancing from the heart through movement with a specific natural purpose, and will invite audiences around the world to embrace, accept and use their flaws, not hide from them. Without imperfection, the world would have no character, no diversity, no substance. The dance experience is not merely viewing bodies executing movement on a stage. The intoxicating feeling of watching great dance involves seeing something different with both the senses and through emotion. DAMAGEDANCE is a company that strives to be, live and believe in the story being told. Previous appearances include the APAP NYC Conference, Triskelion Arts and the Cunningham Studios.

"Jessica is the quintessential artist; her originality in both conception and presentation parallel her passions and intentions...there is no other choreographer I have ever worked with that communicates her ideas in such a real and raw, yet organized way...she is, herself, a paradox in a world of commercial biz versus lost bohemia...she encompasses both without ever selling out or checking out. The modern dance world is in desperate need of the life and spark of Jessica Taylor."

-Elliot Roth, MAC award winning New York based composer/musician Headliner of Off-Broadway's "Our Sinatra"

Emily Faulkner/Wind-Up Dances (New York City)

www.emilyfaulkner.com

A Dancer, choreographer and improviser, Emily Faulkner founded Emily Faulkner/Wind-Up Dances to share with audience her passion for movement invention, improvisation and playing in the gap between delicacy and recklessness. Faulkner creates intricate dances suffused with deadpan wit. Delicate articulation and acrobatic tumbling, movements that turn on a dime from pedestrian to whimsical – Faulkner's dances create a logic and a world of their own.

"The body as a complicated puzzle or an inaccurate clock, a river bending around a corner, quick as a whip, or a current of air and water briefly beating out gravity and expectation." - Emily Faulkner

Faulkner has danced and choreographed for 20 years, and her work as been presented at venues throughout New York City: Movement Research at the Judson Church, New Dance Alliance, Dixon Place, DanceNow NYC, Conversations at the Flea, Hatch, WaxWorks, Washington Square Church, The American Center for the Alexander Technique. She has also presented work at the Philadelphia Fringe festival and in Toronto. Her repertory includes: Lily, a poignant solo about being a mother and the delicate play between gentleness, reserve, terror and absurdity. Rubbermaid, a duet that consists entirely of floor movement, and The Goat Princess, a duet which tells the story of a girl and a goat who switch places. Her latest work and first evening length work, Wind-Up Circus, for six dancers, received critical acclaim and played to sold out houses at Triskelion Arts Theater.

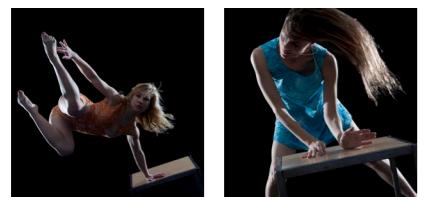

Faulkner performed in the works of many ground-breaking choreographers including Yvonne Meier (which whom she performed in the Bessie Award-winning, The Shining), D.D. Dorvillier and Jennifer Lacey.

In addition to choreographer and dancing, for the past 12 years, Faulkner has hosted and curated, in collaboration with Jody Sperling, Tea Dances, an afternoon series which has presented numerous dancers and choreographer including Chris Elam, Douglas Dunn and Ellis Wood.

Faulkner has been a certified teacher of the Alexander Technique since 1999 and teaches privately as well as teaching dance workshops in dance and the Alexander Technique. She graduated with honors from Wesleyan University and studied film at Ohio State University. She lives in New York City with her husband and three children.

"There's something to be said for sweetness, and Emily Faulkner says it well. In her tribute to innocence, 'Wind-Up Circus,' at Triskelion Arts Theater, Faulkner used angular limbs and soft-edged acrobatics wrapped around the props, music, and colors of childhood to bring us into her world... 'Wind-Up Circus' is a small piece, made and danced with tenderness. The children in the audience were riveted in the present performance; adults seemed to choose memories they found in the music and the motion. This was a tiny gift, offered with love."

www.gehringdancetheatre.org

Eight years ago, Heather Gehring began Gehring Dancetheatre with the hope of creating a place for dancers to explore and grow not only physically, but mentally and creatively as well. Today she is artistic director of a company of powerful, beautiful and unique women, dedicated to pushing themselves beyond their own perceived boundaries through the exploration of many different styles of dance including ballet, acrobatics and Argentine Tango.

Gehring Dancetheatre's choreography is overall contemporary, with strong elements of athleticism and partnering. The company repertoire consists of over fifteen unique and varied pieces choreographed by Heather, supplemented by works of other company members. Each piece has not only a subtly different style but also reveals a unique atmosphere or story. Each dancer is encouraged and expected to be more than just a physical instrument and to search for clarity and depth in both the movement and in the character portrayal.

A specialized warm up class was developed by Ms. Gehring and is taken by the company dancers before every rehearsal to build the flexibility and strength required for the difficult choreography, to encourage and maintain proper technique and form, and to reduce the possibility of injury. Gehring Dancetheatre's dancers are encouraged to work from the inside out, bringing authenticity to their dancing. It is our belief that the greatest limitations are often in a person's own mind and if, as dancers, we can free ourselves of fear, and follow what we love and enjoy, anything is possible.

Gehring Dancetheatre is also available for split bills with Ballroom Dancing for Tough Guys.

JODI KAPLAN & ASSOCIATES / BOOKINGDANCE

Producing Agency | www.bookingdance.com

BookingDance is proud to present Booking DANCE FESTIVAL Edinburgh 2011 as a dance "festival within a festival" presented by Producer Jodi Kaplan / BookingDance at The Edinburgh Fringe.

Continuing its international Dance Festival series, Booking DANCE FESTIVAL Edinburgh 2011 will be the producer's third annual dance event in Scotland and fourth international production.

Jodi Kaplan / BookingDance produced its first international festival Booking DANCE FESTIVAL Beijing 2008, coinciding with the Beijing Olympics. This festival proved to be a huge success, featuring the three best dance companies from Beijing; The National Ballet of China performing a world premiere, the internationally renowned Beijing Modern Dance Company and the experimental TAO Studio – alongside two top USA artists. Endorsed by the USA Ambassador in China, the festival implemented extensive outreach activities and performances at an outdoor Olympic venue. Students and migrant workers were bussed in for a special matinee while proceeds of the performance benefited earthquake victims.

Following its success in Beijing and Edinburgh, Jodi Kaplan / BookingDance looks forward to continuing the Booking DANCE FESTIVAL Edinburgh as an annual dance "festival within a festival" at The Edinburgh Fringe. Presenting several USA dance companies on one international stage offers the European community the opportunity to see the newest and most innovative of American dance.

Plans are also underway for future Booking DANCE FESTIVALS to showcase American dance artists on stage with top international companies. Future festivals include Booking DANCE FESTIVAL London 2012, coinciding with the Olympics! And Booking DANCE FESTIVAL Africa 2013 in South Africa!

Jodi Kaplan / BookingDance also produces dance events annually in New York City. Each January, the agency presents extensive dance showcases in a three-day festival at the Ailey Citigroup Theater, coinciding with the Association of Performing Arts Presenters Conference. From 2008-2011 there have been a total of 60 dance showcases performed annually by 40 different dance artists. The fifth annual NYC festival is scheduled for January 7-9, 2012 with even more artists, bringing dance to the center stage.

Jodi Kaplan & Associates / BookingDance is a personal "boutique agency" that books dance companies on extensive tours throughout the USA and internationally. Director Jodi Kaplan also consults with both established and newly formed dance companies in developing stronger artistic programming and performing engagements.

SPONSOR BOOKING DANCE FESTIVALS

The Booking DANCE FESTIVAL is the brainchild of Producer Jodi Kaplan, born with the intention of creating a cultural exchange between performing artists and international communities. The Festival occurs annually at different locations around the globe, continually bridging dance artists and audiences worldwide. It is the long-term vision of Booking DANCE FESTIVAL to return annually to the Edinburgh Fringe while additionally producing showcases in a third-world country every two years and the summer Olympics every four years.

Showcase Dance Artists

Selected companies benefit through advantageous international press coverage and potential future touring in regions of Booking DANCE FESTIVALS.

Cultural Exchange

Helping artists help themselves and helping artists help each other. Booking DANCE FESTIVALS select USA artists to perform with top local artists in an effort to foster cultural exchange and additional visibility for selected companies.

Political / Economic

Bridging political gaps through cultural connections. Booking DANCE FESTIVALS Africa and Beijing 2008 aim to bring USA dance companies to countries and areas of the world that otherwise would never be able to afford selected artists.

Olympic Scale

Dancers are athletes. Olympic Booking DANCE FESTIVALS are a celebration of the movement of the human body. It is important to position the art of dance as a backdrop to the Olympics, complementing the competition with culture, offering selected artists the unique opportunity to increase international exposure exponentially.

Sponsorship Opportunities

BookingDance is now accepting sponsorship for Edinburgh 2012, London 2012, Edinburgh 2013 and Africa 2013. These unparalleled opportunities allow potential sponsors to reach the global market while contributing to a non-profit arts organization.

The festival offers an affordable opportunity for American artists to help themselves via international showcases. Through Festival Sponsorship you are an integral part in making this exciting Festival take place. We are seeking sponsorship to cover overall production costs.
