

Kim Robards DANCE

“Ms. Robards seems to take in dance without clumsily concocted themes and other gimmicks...the choreography does demand unremitting energy and athleticism from the performers, a staple in dance today. Ms. Robards thinks in grander terms.”

- The New York Times

“Robards is indeed a phenomenon – choreographing all four works on the program and dancing athletically in three of them.”

- Charlotte’s Creative Loafing

“She [Robards] brings an original, substantive vision to her pieces, moving dancers across the stage in fresh, propulsive ways.”

- The Denver Post

BRIEF SYNOPSIS:

Based in Denver, Colorado, Kim Robards Dance is a classically athletic modern dance company serving the local community, as well as acting as an ambassador of Colorado culture while touring both nationally and internationally. Artistic Director Kim Robards has choreographed work and restaged her company’s repertory all over the United States and has received critical acclaim nationally and abroad. Placing an emphasis on collaboration with other artists, Kim Robards Dance seeks artistically-interesting partnerships and has a long history of engaging with musicians and composers to create synergistic pieces that honor classical western dance traditions while remaining contemporary within the field of dance.
